DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-54 are pending.
2. Amendment filed 03/23/2009 has been received and considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1, 2, 4-6, 21, 22, 30, 31, 39 and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cooley (US 20030055979) in view of Yip et al. (US 6980550) and further in view of Liston (US 20040103314).

As per claims 1, 21, 30, and 39, Cooley discloses receiving a request from a user to obtain an address (see paragraph [0018] and Abstract); obtaining said address; generating a substitute return address corresponding to said address, said substitute return address corresponding to a used one of a block of addresses (see paragraphs [0018] and [0021]); returning said substitute return address to said user (see paragraph [0018] and Abstract).

Cooley fails to explicitly disclose applying a function to the address to obtain said substitute return address and monitoring access to said address; and detecting an unauthorized attempt to access said address when an attempted address corresponds to an unused one of said block of substitute addresses.

However, Yip et al. teaches applying a function to a requested address to obtain a substitute return address (see Yip et al. column 3 lines 41-48 and lines 55-67) and Liston teaches receiving requests to obtain an address, obtaining the address (see paragraphs [0038] and [0039]), monitoring accesses to the address and detecting unauthorized attempts when the request corresponds to an unused address (see paragraph [0031]).

At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to substitute the address generating method of Cooley with the one of Yip et al. and to use the monitoring of Liston in the Cooley system.

Motivation to do so would have been to provide load balancing (see Yip et al. column 2 lines 55-67) and to provide intrusion detection and countermeasures (see Liston paragraphs [0012]-[0017]).

As per claims 2, 22, 31, and 40, the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system discloses hashing a user address of said user to obtain one value of the range of values mapping to said block of substitute addresses, said one value designating said used one of said block of substitute addresses (see Yip et al. column 3 lines 41-48 and 55-67).

As per claims 4-6 the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system discloses tracing a user when said attempted address corresponds to said unused one of said block of substitute addresses (see Liston paragraphs [0038]-[0041]); blocking additional unauthorized attempts when said attempted address corresponds to said unused one of said block of substitute addresses (see Liston paragraphs [0038]-[0042]); and wherein unused ones of said block of substitute addresses corresponds to attack detectors (see Liston paragraphs [0038]-[0044]).

5. Claims 3 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system as applied to claims 1 and 2 above, and further in view of Hamzy et al. (US 6941368).

As per claims 3 and 7, the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system fails to disclose hashing the time of a request as a part of the function.

However, Hamzy et al. teaches hashing a user address, destination address and time (see column 6 lines 42-49).

At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to include a time with the hash of the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system.

Motivation to do so would have been to only allow a resource (i.e. address) to be accessed during a certain time period (see Hamzy et al. column 6 lines 42-63).

6. Claims 8-11, 13-20, 23-26, 28, 29, 32-35, 37, 38, 41-45 and 47-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system as applied to claims 1, 21, 30 and 39 above, and further in view of Chari et al. (US 20040019781).

As per claims 8-11, 25, 26, 29, 34, 35, 38, 44, and 45 the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system fails to explicitly disclose changing said used one of said block substitute addresses over time.

However, Chari et al. teaches changing on of the used addresses over time (see Chari et al. paragraphs [0013], [0050], [0058]).

At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to change the used substitute addresses of the modified Cooley, Yip et al. and Liston system.

Motivation to do so would have been to update the addresses during an attack to invalidate addresses used in the attack (see Chari et al. paragraphs [0057]-[0058]).

As per claims 13-20, 23, 24, 28, 32, 33, 37, 41-43, and 47-54, the modified Cooley, Yip et al., Liston and Chari et al. system discloses tracing a user when said attempted address corresponds to said unused one of said block of addresses (see Liston paragraphs [0038]-[0041]); blocking additional unauthorized attempts when said attempted address corresponds to said unused one of said block of addresses (see Liston paragraphs [0038]-[0042]); and wherein unused ones of said block of addresses corresponds to attack detectors (see Liston paragraphs [0038]-[0044]).

7. Claims 12, 27, 36 and 46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the modified Cooley, Yip et al., Liston and Chari et al. system as applied to claims 8, 25, 34, and 44 above, and further in view of Griffiths et al. (US 6286045).

As per claims 12, 27, 36, and 46 the modified Cooley, Yip et al., Liston and Chari et al. system fails to explicitly disclose randomly choosing an address.

However, Griffiths et al. teaches randomly choosing an IP address (see column 23 lines 47-49).

At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to randomly choose an address in the modified Cooley, Yip et al., Liston and Chari et al. system.

Motivation to do so would have been to determine round trip times (see column 23 lines 44-51).

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-54 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
